

Hawaiian Gazette
published by ROBERT CRIEVE & CO.
Every Wednesday Morning.
11 FIVE DOLLARS PER ANNUM PAID IN ADVANCE.

Two Numbers $1.00 in Advance. which includes postage-prepaid.

Office in new Gazette Building, 23 and 25 Merchant Street.

In the Budget Car.

The sailing time is increasing for the East, With more people arriving to spend Thanksgiving in the old English towns.

The chief November night has passed away;

The other seems to have been whistling by.

The latter has little time to sleep,

She was up early, and we were entertained.

The first time she does her best.

This time it is, and we are delighted.

The first time she does her best.

We can't stand it any longer. What are the others?

The better, calm and happy, only said,

She is in the budget car.

—
Miscellaneous.

It is not calling your neighbor names that settles a question.

In the Eastern and Southern States an annual number of art exhibitions were the feature of the winter season.

Canton is to be supplied with pure water by a native company. The capital, administered by Chinese, is $100,000.

The best government is not that which renders the individual happiest, but that which renders the greatest number happy.

Home, after it is claimed, Here El-Myers has discovered can be kept from fermenting or losing its flavor by adding to it about one per cent of formalin.

A very rich man said: "I worked like a slave till I was forty years old to make my fortune, and have been watching it like a detective ever since for my ledger, food and clothes."

An advertiser offers to send an article on the subject of one of our Society's most prominent individuals. He probably gives a break here now for nothing on the payment of four thousand dollars.

In Boston people use the three names of Leslie, an Englishman, in France that of Bonaparte, a Frenchman, in Germany that of Celsius, a Swede, and in England and America that of Fahrenheit, a German.

"I'm no sectarian," said Job Shattuck, as he grew warm in religious argument.
"I believe every man ought to be a strict Presbyterian," and then he looked around in wonder as an amiable smile waded into the evening air.

The almost daily record of one or more suicides in Boston, or attempts at suicide, makes the world say that a man who throws himself from a Tarpaulin Rock has taken to the water with both legs broken and skull fractured.

When a boy fails called up as go-West and tried again, he should be shut up in a yard for about fifteen minutes with a dog about as big as a cinder bun. If that doesn't cure him, then he was sent off for a great bear hunt.

The Order "Pour le Mérite," confered by Kaiser Wilhelm upon the Duke of Connaught in recognition of his services in Egypt, was founded by Frederick the Great, and is the highest military decoration in the gift of the Prussian Crown.

Madame Patti, who is nervous when crossing the ocean, before starting for America, made her will, in which she desires to be buried at Craig-y-nos, and leaves a sum of money to be expended in improving a number of poor Welsh boys with good voices who may show a taste for music.

Bacon Foster was employed, when a boy, in a lawyer's office in Frankfort-on-the-Maine, and while there originated the idea of developing stock mangers from London and other large cities by means of manufactory. Soon afterwards he conceived the idea of establishing the same news agency which has since made him famous.

President Lincoln's only daughter is at the Soldier's Home cottage, and is soon to go to a Washington school. The President suggested that she should have a smaller allowance than the nine-year-old son he seemed to know so well, and that "she should attend the Local Circuit Court, and not the State." — "A man can have friends and you can't," was the child's reply;
and the example let him alone after that.

A dignified gentleman was recently enamored of an infant class in the primary department of one of our schools on natural history. He was calculating one bright little fellow about the cat, and made him describe his idea of the familiar feline. The boy's description was not complete enough.
He seemed to have no adequate idea of the extraordinary quickness and agility of the cat as compared with poor humanity.
Finally the examiner said: "Can you tell me anything a cat can do that I can't?"
Oh, yes, the boy could tell that easily enough.
"Well, then, what can a cat do that I can't?" — "A man can have friends and you can't," was the child's reply;
and the example let him alone after that.

The time of Christ's emigration was to be determined, demonstrated by astronomical calculation, after referring to the historical data which we possesses, is asserted by Judge Joseph P.
Bradley, of the Supreme Court of the United States. The cardinal conditions are, first, that the time must be brought within the procuratorship of Pontius Pilate, secondly, the time must be within the procuratorship of the Tiberius, and after the thirtieth year of Christ's age, thirdly, must occur on the Sabbath of the ninth month Nisan (Abib) and on the sixth day of the week, or Friday.
After a close and extended calculation, his honor reaches this conclusion: "There were only two years from A. D. 27 to A. D. 35 inclusive, in which the time of Christ's emigration, and consequently of his crucifixion, happened on Friday, and those two years were A. D. 27 and 33, the last of which is very doubtful. But the crucifixion could not have happened before A. D. 26, and probably not later than A. D. 31. Therefore the year 30 is the only one which satisfies all the conditions of the problem. It does not seem likely, however, that Jesus died on Friday, and he probably for about three years, and not at least three Passovers during his ministry or four, according as it commenced on or after April 5, A. D. 27. Now, since in A. D. 30 the first of Nisan fell on Friday, the twenty-fourth of March, the fifteenth fell on Friday, the seventh of April, which was the day of the crucifixion."

In all labor there is poverty, if we can't find it, containing its deepest meaning and its truest realities. One medium and another provide the common wealth and refinement which his work is daily spreading. One merchant measures his losses only by the yearly account of profit and loss, another sees it in the extent of commerce, the emigration that is given as a ladder for him to ascend, another sees it in the extent of his wealth and popularity; another beholds suffering and agony, diseases, extremes, sanitary habits etc., etc., beautiful living, sound, happy-ness. One woman sees in her house only an era of hard work and physical comfort; another sees exquisite pictures of possible happiness, home, development and growth. Many others see it in the world and society that the nation is as above, higher truths of labor being the only way to its true position.
Its poetry is its best reality, and envelops all its prose of hard work or dry details.

FOR SALE.
BAXTER ENGINE
4 H.P.—POWER.

5 Deane Steam Pumps

ERIAL TO ELEKTRON.
H. Hackfeld & Co.

100-1000 ft.

100-1000 ft.